Rabbinic Reflections

From Generation to Generation

From Generation to Generation – L'Dor V'Dor,” is one of the central values of modern Jewish life. We emphasize the importance of passing on Judaism from one generation to the next in our families and for the Jewish community. Two reflections:

From Generation to Generation in Our Families

Families affirm “L'Dor V'Dor – From Generation to Generation,” at life-cycle events (birth, Bar/t Mitzvah, weddings) and at holidays. Families feel joy being together, celebrating, and continuing the chain of tradition. There may be holiday traditions (who finds the Afikoman?), special recipes (in my family my Aunt Faye’s Mandle Bread cookies were legend) and words of blessing from parents to children.

A magnificent example of the way to build the connection between generations is PJ Library®. “It provides families raising Jewish children with the gift of free, high-quality children's books, music, and resources that foster deeper engagement with Jewish life. By reading with children it instills in them the joy of Jewish life.” The Foundation says:

Whenever your children learn a family tradition, story, or recipe, that's l'dor v'dor, which is the Hebrew for “from generation to generation.” Each member of your family plays a role in shaping who your children will become. They instill character, and often embody values and traditions to be passed on to their own children and families. ...Making your grandmother's matzah ball soup recipe together, lighting shabbat candles, and building a Family Tree are all ways you can practice l'dor v'dor.

Rosh Hashana, Yom Kippur, Sukkot and Simchat Torah are wonderful times to create new family memories with children, siblings, grandchildren, and dear friends.

From Generation to Generation at Congregation Emanu-El

A blessing of Congregation Emanu-El, and synagogues of similar size, is that the temple can become an extended family. Congregants can become extended aunts and uncles who take an interest in each child. We share this experience on Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur when we invite children to come to the sanctuary and a story, when we do a blessing for new babies, and when we recall temple members who passed away as part of the Yizkor (Memorial Service) on Yom Kippur.

This year I want to especially invite everyone in the synagogue to join us for events which include children and families. This makes the events exciting and affirms the way that young people are a vital part of the chain of tradition of Congregation Emanu El. Beyond our Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur holidays, I would like to encourage you to be part of four events:

Pizza in the Hut – Wednesday, October 4

6:00pm. Celebrate the first night of Sukkot with pizza and a brief service.

First Friday: A Service for Children, Teens and Adults of All Ages and Shabbat of Sukkot – Pot Luck Dinner - Friday, October 6, 2017

6:00pm. Please join us to welcome Shabbat as a congregation – this service will have a special prayer book designed for school age children and music with a song leader.

Consecration: Welcome for New SJL Children - Sunday, October 8

11:30 AM - New This Year! Please join us as we celebrate Consecration on a Sunday so all SJL students, families, and the entire congregation can attend. Help us make this a joyous celebration of a new beginning.

Simchat Torah: Our New Year with the Torah – Wednesday, October 11

6:30pm. This is one of the most joyous celebrations for congregants of all ages. Please join us as we open the Torah from one end to the other.

“From Generation to Generation – L'Dor V'Dor,” together we can make our holiday season a time of renewal and joy.

Shana Tovah

Cantorial Comments

Ben (son of) Bag Bag said:
Turn the Torah over and over for everything is in it. Look into it, grow old and worn over it, and never move away from it, for you will find no better portion than it."

Once again, we are getting close to coming full circle – to completing the yearly cycle of our Torah readings and starting anew - with our most joyous Festival of Simchat Torah. This is also a good time to thank our wonderful High Holy Day Torah chanters who participated in Torah Services throughout the Yamim Noraim [Days of Awe] – Michelle Anctil, Susan Damron, Renee Kress, Mary Lynn Stough, Leslie Soltz and Neil Spears!

At the High Holy Day season, along with millions of other Jews throughout the world, we devote a couple of days a year to sitting in the synagogue, taking time to reflect, review, and renew our souls. Did any of the beautiful music, Torah readings or High Holy Day liturgy speak to you in a way they hadn't before, or touch a part of you that has changed the way you may have felt since? Unless we actively engage in regular spiritual exploration, most of us rarely have the opportunity to devote to serious inner contemplation or reflection.

Is this only possible during Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur?? What if we were able to give ourselves a space in time each week to calm our thoughts, refresh our hearts and souls, let go of some of the worries that weigh us down on most days and allow ourselves a few hours of rest? This is almost unthinkable in our drive-through culture that so highly values instant gratification.

Ah, but we do! Judaism has a structure in place – a regular time of the week set aside for taking a break from the revolving doors and schedules and phone calls and texts and tweets of the week. We have Shabbat. Shabbat creates a structure that allows us to let go. According to the great teacher, Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel, with Shabbat we “celebrate time rather than space. Six days a week we live under the tyranny of things of space; on the Sabbath we try to become attuned to holiness in time. It is a day on which we are called upon to share in what is eternal in time, to turn from the results of creation to the mystery of creation, from the world of creation to the creation of the world.”

In these fast-moving currents of our high-tech world, and the challenging issues and suffering we encounter in our daily lives, may the discoveries we make in turning the Torah anew each week, remind us to turn to moments of Shabbat peace and harmony, and give ourselves the chance to refresh our souls and keep our hearts open to growth and change.

Presidential Perspectives

As we bring to a close our High Holy Days for 5778, I can't help but think about the recent devastation caused by hurricanes Harvey and Irma and how it has impacted our nation. Many lost their lives and scores more were injured. Homes and businesses were destroyed. But through the devastation, something great was gained. In the moments just before Harvey came ashore, our country found itself at war, with itself. Statues which serve as reminders of our past fueled the deep divide which still plagues our nation. Anti-semitism, racism and even politics brought to light the divisive issues of our society and showed an America in peril. Then came Harvey; and just like that a national storm of hate was replaced by a sea of kindness. We saw neighbor helping neighbor, regardless of their race, religion or skin color. In an instant, our promise as a country was on display in Houston Texas, the most culturally diverse city in these United States. Then and there it didn't matter what color the hand was which reached out to help. For those trapped in a submerged car or perched high on a roof top, it didn't matter that a Muslim, Jew or Christian was trying to help. We saw that when mother nature is at its worse, human nature is at its best. Throughout Texas, Florida and the Southeast, many people lost everything, but they are now rich with perspective about what's important and relevant in their lives and community. Harvey and Irma reminded us all that gratitude should never be felt only when a hurricane soaks us to the core. The question will now be, when the flood waters recede will our country still be able to maintain the compassion and understanding we've seen it's capable of. Something happens to us as a people when we get pounded with perspective. We begin to see hope for a bright tomorrow and a world built on compassion, kindness and understanding. Let us not wait for another natural disaster to serve as a barometer when measuring our collective human demeanor. Here's to a New Year built on the dream that kindness will outshine hate, and that we always strive to see the good in each other, no matter the climate.

L'Shalom,

Greg Weissman

Treasurer's Report

Dear Fellow Congregants,

As we have just concluded the High Holy Days, our family wishes to extend to you wishes for a Happy and Healthy New Year. We hope your Holy days were joyful and your fast was easy.

As you know, we have our annual Kol Nidre Pledge solicitation and are always thankful for your generosity. Since this is a major source of unrestricted revenue for our Congregation we hope you were able to match or exceed your pledge for the previous year. In the event we were unable to reach you by phone, ask and hope you will contact us to place your pledge for this current fiscal year.

We are excited by the information we have received through our Meet & Greets and our Town Hall that hopefully all of you were able to participate in with us. It was great opportunity to address any suggestions and issues you may have. We want to be here for all your spiritual and religious needs.

Of course, unfortunately, in order to satisfy those needs, we need your financial support and hope you can fulfil those obligations on a timely basis. Our fixed costs have to be met on a monthly basis and your assistance is greatly appreciated.

L'shanah Tovah to all and thank you again for all your support.

Marvin Reiter

From Our Director of Education & Youth

Shanah Tovah, School for Jewish Living and Congregation Emanu El families! School is off to a great start. I would like to introduce you to our 7th and 8th grade teacher, Ricky Kalmanovich, and our exceptional teaching assistants, Addie Swedlove and Juliet Marcus. We began our school year with a full teaching staff and had our first school project on August 27th. Students had fun finding different teachers and items in our school rooms and sanctuary during a scavenger hunt and created beautiful self-portraits that hang on the doors of each classroom. Please check out their talent!

We will have our first field trip on October 1st when we join Team Schvitz'n for the Believe Walk. We are also looking forward to our first school Kabbalat Shabbat on October 6th at 6:00 pm. Rabbi Crystal will lead an engaging service with a potluck to follow. Please look for a link if you would like to contribute to the potluck. First Friday Kabbalat Shabbat is always open to the Emanu El community and we hope to see you there.

I am enjoying every moment of my time with the students in the School for Jewish Living. It is a pleasure to watch community grow at every snack time and to see kindness blossom as teachers guide our students in how to handle conflict in ethical ways that are in line with our Jewish teachings. I know this new year will be a sweet one for the students and staff of this school.

Temple Board of Directors Meeting

Thursday - October 19th - 7:00 pm
in the Raynes Family Learning Center

All members of the congregation are welcome to attend

Sisterhood Speaks

Ah, October! October has always been my favorite month. Mostly because my birthday is in October, but now because my youngest grandchild's birthday is also in October. And of course, that's when the weather cools off and I can enjoy being outdoors again. And cooler evenings mean we will enjoy a Pizza in the Hut Sukkot dinner on October 4 and a pot luck dinner in the Sukkah on October 6 together.

I need to profoundly thank Nancy Sidhu and Susan Damron for planning the Sisterhood Woman to Woman Multi-Faith Panel on September 10. We hosted seven gracious women of other faiths and Sheri Maltzman represented Judaism most ably. I hope we can repeat the panel again. At the end of the afternoon, there were so many questions I did not have the chance to address our guests.

Sisterhood will host our annual Paid Up Members Brunch on Sunday, October 29 at 10 am here in the social hall. We enjoy getting together with all our members, new and old. Beth Freimuth, temple member and clinical social worker, will present a workshop on Mindfulness: Finding Peace in a Chaotic World. Won't you plan to join us and discover a new way to decrease stress and increase fulfillment and joy in your life? The brunch will be no charge to Sisterhood members and associates, and is open to all ages. If you have not yet joined, you will have the opportunity to do so at the brunch. I am looking forward to seeing you there.

The Book Club remains active, and will meet on October 24 to see Bye Bye Germany, at the Krikorian Theater in Redlands. The film is part of the Redlands Art Association series. We will meet for no host dinner at 5 pm at Corner Bakery and the film begins at 7 (arrive by 6:30 in order to get a seat -- this is a popular film series). Call or email me (lhsoltz@gmail.com) for more information.

If you enjoyed the special flowers on the bema for the High Holy Days and the lovely arrangement in the sanctuary every Shabbat, remember the money to provide this attractive enhancement to our service comes from the Sisterhood Flower Fund. By donating to Sisterhood in memory of a dear friend or loved one, you provide us the means to make our services even more beautiful.

As I begin my 73rd year and my granddaughter Eleora begins her 4th, I continue to believe that Congregation Emanu El enriches my spirit through religious services and community friendships. Come along on our Jewish journey.

Mental Health Awareness

Shoe Project

If you travel Down Under, to the beautiful islands that make up New Zealand, you might run across empty shoes filling up a pathway in a park, or along an ocean walkway. Six hundred and six pairs of shoes to be exact. Each pair represents one New Zealander who has died by suicide.

This is the Shoe Project, started by Fi Perez, a woman who lost her husband to suicide in 2008. A year later she had written her own suicide note, which at the last moment she didn't use. She decided instead to be part of the solution to the terrible ravaging that afflicts those who die by suicide and all those who love them, like Fi and their 8 year old son.

She calls herself "a legacy holder, as are all those bereaved by suicide," all those who experience "the stigma, shame, guilt, everything that's heaped upon those they leave behind. Why didn't we stop them? Why didn't we know? It's horrible," she says.

So she along with others put the shoes around New Zealand to bring awareness about suicide to all her countrymen and women. New Zealand has the highest youth suicide rate among developed countries in the world. As she says, we need to treat mental health just the way we treat physical health.

We all can be part of the solution along with Fi Perez. We need to make sure that our health insurance in our country will continue to include mental health treatments. To go back to mental illness exclusion from coverage would be unconscionable. Keep all the empty shoes in mind. Let's all be legacy holders. And let us all prevent suicide by learning the signs and making sure vulnerable people get professional help.

Bat Mitzvah בת מצוה

Jordyn Stiles

October 21, 2017

My name is Jordyn Stiles and I am a freshman at Etiwanda High School in Rancho Cucamonga. Along with studying for school and my Bat Mitzvah, I spend my time swimming competitively on the Hillside Aquatics Swim Team and enjoy spending time with my family and friends. I hold a special place in my heart for animals and can't wait to become a veterinarian.

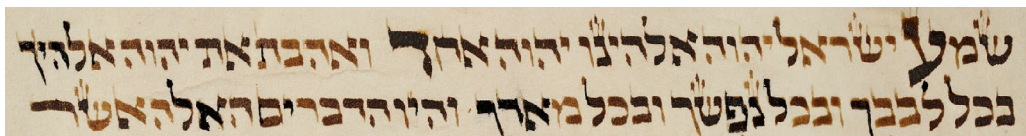

My Bat Mitzvah and Jewish heritage are important to me in many ways. One of the most prominent reasons is because of the stories about how my great grandmother became a Holocaust survivor. She was one of the strongest people I've ever known and continues to be a very influential role model in my life. Her strength and courage motivate me everyday to be the best person I can be. I am so grateful for the support of my family and friends, and can't wait to share my special day with all of them.

A "Homecoming" of Two Sisters/Authors

authors of a newly-published romance novel will talk about their book and how it came to be...

SUSAN LERNER and NANCY MEYER are "products" of our temple and community. They are the daughters of the late Geraldine (Gerry) and Leon Lapidés. Susan and Nancy grew up in Redlands where they attended public schools and graduated from Redlands High School. They received their Jewish education at our temple and were confirmed here. Now in their 70's they have partnered in writing "September, Somewhere", a work of fiction that "mixes some romance and creativity with their diverse, real life experiences. This story pulls from the authors' combined years of world travel, community service, heartbreak, and happiness."

We will be honored to welcome them back to THEIR congregation and community and to hear about their new book.

From the books cover: "Inspired by true events, September, Somewhere is a peek behind the curtain of young, top dollar lawyers, a place of status, suspect morals and infinite temptation. Charlotte, Ryan and Marielisa will each pick a different path through this complicated world, but once a year those paths intersect. And that's when things get interesting."

Because there are many in the area who have fond memories of the Lapidés family we are opening this luncheon to all - seniors and non-seniors - to come and meet or renew acquaintance with Susan and Nancy.
