Rabbinic Reflections

"An Unending Love"

Shavuot celebrates the giving of the Torah on Mount Sinai. Jewish communities around the world share in an evening of Jewish learning to commemorate this sacred moment called a Tikkun Leil Shavuot. In Celebrate! The Complete Jewish Holiday Handbook, the Tikkun Leil Shavuot is described in this way.

We remain awake to show that, unlike the situation of our heavy-lidded ancestors at Sinai [who were not full awake to the presence of the Divine], there is no need to bring us to our senses; we are ready to receive Torah. ... the mystics had the idea that at midnight the heavens open and favorably receive the thoughts, study, and prayers of those who remain awake on the anniversary of the Revelation. ... It was likened to the hours of preparation prior to a wedding.

In Judaism, the imagery of the revelation on Mount Sinai is in some ways that of a marriage between God and the Jewish. They make a covenant where the Divine will protect the people and the Israelites will observe the laws of the God. The giving of the Torah is a symbol of the love of God and Israel.

Shalom of Safed (Shalom Moskovitz)

Matan Torah [the giving of the Torah] and Shavuot

In the prayer book this is expressed twice a day in the prayer that immediately precedes the Shema which says:

Unending is Your love for your people, the House of Israel: Torah and Mitzvot, laws and precepts have You taught us. Therefore, O Eternal our God, when we lie down and when we rise up, we will meditate on Your laws and rejoice in Your Torah and Mitzvot forever. Day and night we will reflect on them, for they are our life and the length of our days. Then Your love shall never depart from our hearts! Blessed is the Eternal, who loves God's people Israel.

This year for Shavuot Cantor Bern-Vogel and I are planning a special program entitled, To Love with an Unending Love:God, the Torah and Us. We will explore many dimensions of love. We will begin with songs of love from Broadway musicals, and then move to love in mystical traditions and conclude with reflections on how love of the Divine can shape our lives. In the tradition of Shavuot, we will have cheesecake and other dairy treats. Please join us.

L'Shalom.

Making Our Days Count --The Cycles of our Lives: What the ancient counting of the Omer can teach us today - May 12/2-4pm

Also, mark your calendars for: DACA SPEAKER: PERLA MEDINA – SHABBAT EVENING - MAY 18, 2018

We are in the midst of counting the days... I'm sure if there were any students reading this, they would be certain we're talking about the approaching conclusion of the school year, and with that they would not be mistaken! However, we are also in final weeks of Sefirat HaOmer - Counting of the Omer. I am excited to be able to spend an afternoon sponsored by our Sisterhood, on May 12 from 2-4 pm at which time we will also celebrate Rosh Chodesh Sivan. Together we will discuss the many cycles that have brought us all to the current time – how do we bring greater meaning to our days? What do we make of the lessons we have learned – painful though they may have been – from our past? What is the point of carrying on this tradition today?

Looking forward to a different sort of L'eil Shavuot [Erev Shavuot] study evening this year; on Saturday night May 19, I will be joining in a fun collaboration with Rabbi Crystal; Selections of beautiful texts of Shir ha Shirim – Song of Songs, will be highlighted with love songs from some of our favorite contemporary musicals! Think of it as Midrash & Music. Baritone, Elliot Levine, from Riverside, who has sung with our choir, will be joining us in this endeavor, along with our accompanist, Jerry Ripley.

Chag Sameach,

Cantor Jennifer Bern-Vogel

From The Book of Ruth [read on Shavuot]

A true love story:

Do not urge me to leave you, to turn back and not follow you. for wherever you go, I will go; wherever you lodge, I will lodge; your people shall be my people, and your God my God. Where you die, I will die, and there I will be buried. Thus and more, may Adonai do to me, if anything but death parts me from you. [Ruth 1:16-17]

Presidential Perspectives

On April 21st our Congregation bestowed its highest honor upon two of our most dedicated members. Susan and Paul Shimoff received the Rabbi Norman F. Feldheym Award for their four decades of selfless commitment to our Temple and community. I'd like to offer another Mazel Tov to Susan and Paul, and the entire Shimoff family, for this well deserved honor.

Rabbi Reznick is gradually beginning her transition from Los Angeles to the Inland Empire as she begins searching for a new home for herself and her children, Clara and Isaiah. Much thanks to Dr. Brad Hyman and Justin Swant for coordinating the efforts of the Rabbinic Transition Task Force.

Julie Strain and Ellen Weiss continue leading efforts to examine a proposed transition from our current High Holy Day prayer book to the Mishkan HaNefesh. Rabbi Reznick and Cantor Bern-Vogel both have been pouring over this two volume series of books, while Rabbi Crystal continues his series of workshops helping congregants become familiar with its content. Copies of Mishkan Hanefesh are now available for checkout in the Temple office for anyone interested in spending an extended period of time getting to know these prayer books.

Mishkan HaNefesh will be one of the many agenda items discussed at our annual congregational meeting on May 17. This annual meeting is a unique opportunity for members to offer input to temple leadership and become familiar with the proposed Board of Directors slate. Of course this meeting includes a picnic style Bar-B-Que sponsored by your Board of Directors, so please bring your appetite!

I'd like to thank each and every one of you for your continued commitment to our congregation. As we commemorate the 127th anniversary of Congregation Emanu El's official charter back in 1891, I stand in awe of those whose commitment remains strong and unwavering to our synagogue, ensuring that the Jewish presence in the San Bernardino Valley remains strong and vital for years to come.

L'Shalom,

Greg Weissman

Treasurer's Report

Dear Fellow Congregants, I have gone fishing again!

See you at the annual meeting.

Brit Olam - Covenant for the World We Want

What makes us American and Californian? Our common experience, our sense of freedom and optimism, our embracing of diversity, and the common history of we or family members coming somewhere else and learning how to be Americans. Immigration is our common experience. Right now things are hard for those from elsewhere. Our tradition is clear about how we are supposed to treat the with understanding kindness. And then the stranger becomes part of us.

Perla Medina is a graduate of Cal State San Bernardino and is a Community Outreach Coordinator for Infant-Toddler Success, a non-profit helping young families.

Her young life has presented her with challenges and opportunities, and she enthusiastically embraces them all, full of optimism for the future. Please join us to hear her tell us her story.

Brit Olam – Covenant for the World We Want – Cantor Jennifer Bern-Vogel, Leone Hyman, and Nancy Sidhu.

Sisterhood Speaks

Sisterhood has just a few events left in our 2017-2018 year. Led by Cantor Jennifer Bern Vogel, we will participate in a Rosh Chodesh celebration. Traditionally, women have refrained from work on Rosh Chodesh (hurray!), so come join us as we study and celebrate together. We are looking forward to learning with Cantor Bern Vogel, and invite you to join us on May 12 from 2-4 pm at Congregation Emanu El. More information will be found in the weekly Emanu El-ectronic News and this bulletin.

We hope that you will plan to attend our end of year brunch. It is going to be a special event. In addition to election of our 2018-2019 officers, we will consider the wisdom that we have acquired throughout our lives and impart to one another. This discussion will be facilitated by Rabbi Lindy Reznick, our new settled rabbi. We are grateful that she has consented to join and lead us on Sunday morning, June 3. In addition, after our program we will serve a lovely catered brunch. I'd love to see everyone there.

At this point in the year, I need to express my appreciation to Rabbi Darryl Crystal. He has supported Sisterhood consistently throughout this year. You can imagine how anxious I was upon hearing last Spring, after I had agreed to take on the Sisterhood presidency, that I would be working with an interim rabbi. The search committee heard that Rabbi Crystal was collaborative and supportive, and I have found that to be quite true. He has brought new ideas to our programs. He has listened to our ideas and needs with respect. I know I speak for Sisterhood, and especially the members of the board, when I say, "Thank you very much" or "Todah Rabah".

I don't intend to overlook the rest of the wonderful team that makes it possible to realize the work we plan. I am amazed at how Cantor Jennifer Bern-Vogel has devoted so much energy to helping Susan Damron plan our monthly mini-programs, plus the Sisterhood Shabbat and Women's Seder. She has enriched our Jewish souls. And anyone who has worked on any program at Congregation Emanu El is aware how Judy Filsinger is our main support and communications linchpin. And, although every woman in Sisterhood is a true balabusta and loves to cook and bake for every congregational event, we could not survive without the backup of Lorraine Freeman, Maria Vallejo and the rest of her staff.

And I want to thank you, the readers of my column each month. For putting up with my musings and giving me feedback. I enjoy being the voice of Sisterhood... now what will I write next year?

Leslie Soltz

President, Sisterhood

May is Mental Health Awareness Month

"There is no greater agony than bearing an untold story inside you."

-- Maya Angelou

It is our custom at Congregation Emanu El to wear lime green awareness ribbons to draw attention to the vital need to talk about mental illness. Through talking we bring our own stories to light and have the opportunity to listen without judgment to the mental health stories of others. In doing this we bring mental illness realities out of darkness and we instantly play a role in ending the stigma that keeps too many people from getting needed support and help.

We'd like to thank those members of the congregation who over the years have shared their stories of mental illness from the bema or at a CEE program. Some of these stories can be read on the CEE website drop down menu Tikkun Olam.

Lime green ribbons are available all month in the Spears Family Merkaz. Everyone is invited to wear a ribbon to show our collective solidarity with the many in our midst afflicted with mental illness.

You may be aware that several professional athletes are revealing in the media their struggles with mental illness.

Five-time NBA Basketball All Star Kevin Love has candidly written about the panic attack he experienced in the middle of an NBA game on November 5, 2017. Below is an excerpt from the March 2018 article that appeared in Players Tribune. The whole piece is compelling and a must read for all of us. https://www.playerstribune.com/en-us/articles/kevin-love-everyone-is-going-through-something

"Everyone is going through something that we can't see"

By Kevin Love, National Basketball Association star player

"...The thing is, because we can't see it, we don't know who's going through what and we don't know when and we don't always know why. Mental health is an invisible thing, but it touches all of us at some point or another. It's part of life.

Mental health isn't just an athlete thing. What you do for a living doesn't have to define who you are. This is an everyone thing. No matter what our circumstances, we're all carrying around things that hurt — and they can hurt us if we keep them buried inside. Not talking about our inner lives robs us of really getting to know ourselves and robs us of the chance to reach out to others in need. So if you're reading this and you're having a hard time, no matter how big or small it seems to you, I want to remind you that you're not weird or different for sharing what you're going through.

Just the opposite. It could be the most important thing you do. It was for me."

Heidi Nimmo and Nancy Sidhu Co-Chairs, Mental Health Awareness In Action

From Our Director of Education & Youth

Shalom Emanu El families!

Our students have had a lovely April. We enjoyed some downtime over spring break and came back ready to learn. Students made passports and took them to centers that taught them about different regions in Israel to celebrate Yom Ha'atzmaut. We all enjoyed hands on learning and the opportunity to taste Israeli recipes during our Israel passport program. It was a great way to get our students excited to learn more about our holy land. Our school and congregation also enjoyed a dine out fundraiser at Panera Bread — a big thank you to everyone who supported the School for Jewish Living while enjoying a tasty dinner.

Coming up in May, we will be learning about Shavuot. Our school year is winding down with only a few more Sundays left until we have our summer break! We will say goodbye to our 5-6 grade teacher, Keren Lee, as she heads home to San Diego when her school year ends at the beginning of this month. We will see her again next school year! Students will continue to make great strides in their Hebrew recognition, decoding, and vocabulary as well as gaining a deeper understanding of our faith and heritage through the Chai curriculum.

L'shalom
