Rabbinic Reflections

I can't believe it is already October. I am amazed that we have almost completed our first High Holyday experience together. I am so grateful to our incredible Cantor, Choir Director, Choir, Staff, Board and many volunteers who made this High Holyday season so incredibly special. Thank you everyone who joined us, got the word out and helped create meaningful experiences throughout this season. I look forward to so many more incredible, prayerful, thought provoking, and joyous experiences with you all at Emanu El in the years to come!

This morning I woke up, stepped outside and in my backyard there was an overcast chill, and cool breeze blowing. I was shocked and thrilled to have the morning mist require me to bundle up for the first time in months. This time of year we prepare for a transition of season, and begin a new Jewish year; it is great time to reboot your commitment to Jewish community. There are so many ways to do that. If you were inspired by the High Holydays, we invite you to join us for more prayer experiences, come Friday nights, or try out Saturday mornings, reach out to friends and ask them to join you at a service or temple event. Open your home to host a Shabbat Alive, or attend some adult education classes. Help us reach out to more young families, or host a study session with the rabbi in your home. There are so many opportunities to help and be of service. We invite your partnership as together we try to build a stronger, more meaningful Jewish experience for all who are a part of Congregation Emanu El.

Our community is only as good as our members. Together we build this Jewish community one person, one experience at a time. If you find that there is something missing in our programming that you would like to see happening, please reach out, set up a meeting with me and let's work together to meet your needs. We have worked very hard to create new programming for our children and young families with additional Tot Shabbat and Shabbat Alive experiences once a month. We will be adding an Intro to Judaism/Conversion class soon because there has been so much interest from the community. We will also be creating a Women's Torah Study group mid year and some new volunteer mitzvah opportunities. Know that we invite your meaningful participation, to build this community into the great mecca of Jewish learning, prayer, spirituality, communal service, and healing that it can be for the Inland Empire. But this community can only be built with your active participation, so make an effort this year to create something meaningful for you and your family here in our Congregation Emanu El community.

I wish you and yours a meaningful, connected, joyous 5779!

Shanah Tovah,
Rabbi Lindy Reznick

Cantorial Comments

Gratitude - Hoda'ah

Our High Holy Day season always concludes with heightened celebration on Simchat Torah when we sing, dance and rejoice with our Torahs - the sacred scrolls containing the teachings that have guided and sustained us throughout the centuries.

The proverbial 'gates' are never really closed until the end of Sukkot - so just as we still have time to approach those whom we may have hurt or wronged, I want to formally acknowledge the many people who gave of their time and talents during these High Holy Days - especially with regard to the music of the service and chanting during the Torah service.

Deep appreciation goes to our choir members for their commitment and many hours of preparation, under our dedicated Choir Director, Jerry Ripley's baton: Michelle Antil, Grace Harris, Sheri Maltzman, Marg Shattuck, Barb Smith, Lisa Wise-Wolk, Chel Zipperstein, George Petite and Kevin Posalski. To our multi-talented Michelle Antil, who kept us awake and on our toes with the penetrating sounds of the shofar, we are also grateful for her Torah chanting, in addition to Susan Damron, Nicole Smith and Wei Wei Xia, who chanted at Congregation Emanu El for the first time. Thank you, as well, to our English Haftarah readers Rhian Beutler on Rosh Hashanah and Nancy Sidhu on Yom Kippur.

To my dear clergy partner, Rabbi Lindy Reznick: Mazal Tov on your first High Holy Days at Congregation Emanu El! Thank for for your inspiration, positive energy, openness in exploring our new Machzor together and willingness to engage in creative, sacred forms of worship. It is a joy and a blessing to be teaming with you as we look forward to the new year ahead! Together, we also look forward to an exciting B'nai Mitzvah service this month, as twins, Emily and Sam Ladenson will lead us in worship and chant from the Torah for the first time in the arms of our community!

Because the High Holy Day Unetanetokef and B'rosh Hashanah prayers in particular, remind us of life's challenges and uncertainties - it is all the more important, to quote the Yiddish saying 'nor af simchas'...[we should only meet up at simchas]...in that we hope you will take advantage of all the joyous events coming up at Congregation Emanu El that center around the reading of our precious Torahs!

We give thanks for a Torah of life - the way of kindness, mercy and truth.

May compassion be our source of sustenance now, as in our people's past.

May our souls withstand times of crisis, and our hearts the inclination to do evil.

May the covenant of Abraham and Sarah strengthen our will to do what is right.

May the qualities of mercy and goodness, love and forgiveness flow through our lives.

And let us be strong in a perilous world; let us open our hearts to the path of Torah.

Machzor HaNefesh, Mincha K'riat HaTorah - based in part, on the prayer Av Harachamim, 12th century prayer

Chag Sameach!

Cantor Jennifer Bern-Vogel

Presidential Perspectives

I'd like to begin by wishing each of you a healthy and happy New Year. Rabbi Reznick, Cantor Bern-Vogel, Jerry Ripley and our Choir provided an inspiring and powerful beginning to our new year, 5779.

I'm pleased to announce that our annual Kol Nidre Appeal thus far has yielded $27,8000. If you have not made a pledge yet, or would like to increase your existing pledge, you can do so through the Temple office. I set an ambitious goal of $30,000 this year. I'm confident that over the next several weeks we can reach that goal through your always present dedication and generosity.

In case you missed it below is an excerpt of my Kol Nidre address to our congregation.

We read:

"On Rosh Hashanah it is written, on Yom Kippur it is sealed. Who shall live and who shall die." Pre-ordination is a pretty heady concept. But is our "lot" in life also pre-ordained? And what power do each of us have to truly change the course of not just our lives, but the world around us? We're taught that we can temper judgment's severe decree through repentance, prayer and charity. But can we also change our "lot" in life?

In 1965, Dodger pitcher Sandy Koufax was scheduled to pitch game one in the World Series between the Dodgers and the Twins. As it often does, the game fell on Yom Kippur. Sandy Koufax's "lot" in life was to be a professional baseball player – to lead his team to victory in the World Series – yet Sandy Koufax was a Jew. His dilemma: Whether to pitch, or not to pitch, on Yom Kippur?

Sports Illustrated wrote, "Koufax was the kind of man boys idolized, men envied, women swooned over, and Rabbis thanked, especially when he refused to pitch game one of the 1965 World Series because it fell on Yom Kippur."

In a moment, Sandy Koufax's "lot" in life changed and perhaps most important, Koufax in a huge way, changed the lot of the Jewish people in America. Sandy explained that while he wasn't a particularly religious man, he felt he needed to set an example for all the young Jewish children who looked up to him.

The Jewish Week wrote: "A generation of young Jews considered him the GREATEST Jew in America. In an era when many Jews thought it was best to keep their Judaism quiet, Koufax' act gave countless Jews courage to be outwardly Jewish"

U.S. synagogues in 1965 were dotted with Holocaust survivors, many who didn't know a curveball from a Matzah Ball.

Yet they knew and treasured the name Sandy Koufax. While American anti-Semitism existed in Koufax's day, it was rather subtle. Jews faced hidden quotas in schools and were stymied in the work place. Still, there was heightened optimism about the future of Jewish life in America. Hank Greenberg faced the same dilemma some 31 years before. Greenberg's refusal to play for the Detroit Tigers in 1934 on Yom Kippur came under generationally very different circumstances than those Koufax faced. In the 1930's, American anti-Semitism was intensified by The Great Depression, political developments abroad, and a large influx of Jews immigrating to America in the early 20th century. The courage of Sandy Koufax, profoundly changed the "lot" of many Jewish lives that summer day inside Chavez Ravine.

The beauty of our heritage, and the courageousness connected to it, is something that I have cherished since my youth. For all of these reasons combined, I have maintained a strong Jewish identity throughout my life. If Sandy Koufax and Hank Greenberg could change the course of American Jewish history, imagine the power each of us has to change our "lot" in life, and that of the Jewish people. This can be done in many ways: By Supporting your local Shul, ensuring your children get a Jewish Education, observing Shabbat, or by making a personal commitment to be a part of the Jewish experience to ensure the health and survival of the Jewish people both locally and around the world. I can still recall where my family sat during the High Holy Days of my youth at our temple in Arcadia where my father was President. I remember festive Hanukkah dinners and Passover Seders held at the Foothill Jewish Temple Center and the wonderful smells that spread from the temple kitchen courtesy of resident cook Sarah Schwartz. Our heritage is filled with many great smells which trigger rich and beautiful memories. To be a Jew means holding tight to these memories and traditions while working to honor those memories and traditions still to come. The memories I carry with me as a Jew permeate every corner of my life. It is what drives me to be a better husband, father, son, brother and member of the Human Community. It is what compels me to lead this congregation as your President. I believe this Temple can be impacted, and changed, one member at a time. I have stood here before stressing the importance of making Temple, This Temple, Our Temple a higher priority in our lives. It's not impossible, but rather a choice.

My hope for this New Year 5779 is one filled with hope and optimism for each of you and our beloved Congregation Emanu El, too much has been sacrificed so that we may live unobstructed Jewish Lives. The magnificent ark behind me and the awe of this beautiful, Holy Sanctuary is far too sacred, much too important for us to not reprioritize this house of worship in each of our daily lives. Our ability to Pray, rejoice, shed tears and embrace fellow congregants is vital to our "lot" in life as Jews. May each of us always remember the importance of this and strive to honor that ideal and work toward propelling Congregation Emanu El into the future. In the years to come, may your lives be filled with a goodly and Godly portion. May you have a pleasant "lot" of your choosing, and may we all rejoice in our rich and beautiful heritage."

Shanah Tovah!

Treasurer's Report

Shalom!

I would like to thank our wonderful clergy and staff for enabling our congregation to have beautiful High Holiday Services. And I would like to thank our congregation for creating such a warm and welcoming environment.

Rabbi Reznick and Cantor Bern-Vogel gave us beautiful prayers and music to worship by but the congregation's engagement and support made the synagogue a warm and welcoming place to be.

Our Yom Kippur Pledge Drive occurred last month. If you were not able to answer our calls, e-mails or texts to state your pledge, it is not too late! Simply call the Temple office and give our amazing Administrator, Judy Filsinger, your pledge amount. Join your fellow congregants in this annual fundraiser. As I have said before ... "Please stand up and be counted – give as generously as you can – show your pride in our Congregation and the history of Congregation Emanu El in the Inland Empire"!

Our September financial statements have been reviewed and approved by your Board of Directors. The Board continues to monitor all expenses carefully and does not spend the money unless it is necessary to keep the building functioning safely or has been approved in the Budget. If you would like to review the financial statements, please contact me, and I will be happy to review them with you. The information is always available to any congregant.

As the end of the year approaches, please remember your Temple while making any year end donations. Any additional contributions will assist us in balancing the budget for this fiscal year.

*Sincerely,
Kathy Rosenfeld*

5779 Jewish Calendars

Once again beautiful Jewish calendars are being made available to the members of our congregation. These are provided by Hillside Memorial Park and Mortuary of Los Angeles. The calendars are available in the temple office. We are grateful to the management of Hillside Memorial Park and Mortuary for their generosity.

Sisterhood Speaks

How lovely and uplifting these High Holy Days have been. I believe that my experience was not just due to the leadership of Rabbi Lindy Reznick, Cantor Jennifer Bern Vogel, Jerry Ripley and the choir, but also the participation of the rest of the congregation. When we all come together to pray, the depth of the experience is wonderful. I find this true when the members of Sisterhood work together to promote the aims of our organization at the local, national and international level. Therefore I am looking forward to our Paid Up Membership Brunch on Sunday, October 28 at 10 a.m. here in the social hall. Members who have paid their 2018-2019 dues are our guests, and you can pay your dues at the door. We also honor our octogenarian members, of which we at present have 13. If you have celebrated your 80th birthday, or know of someone who has, we would like to add her to our "honor roll". Please let me know.

To someone who thinks Sisterhood's only role is cooking and baking, I encourage you to attend our brunch on October 28 to hear Julia Weinstein of the Women of Reform Judaism Pacific District, who will address "Empowering Women, Building Caring Communities, Advocating for Progressive Jewish Values Worldwide". A delightful catered brunch will be served, and reservations are a must. RSVP by October 22 at cee@emanuelsb.org or (909)307-0400. You will be receiving email reminders of this important event, but please don't delay in making your reservation. And save November 18 for a mini program: "Creating a Caring Community for Loved Ones Facing Difficult Diagnoses": A Workshop Presented by Jenna Fields of Sharsheret. Of course everyone is invited to all Sisterhood events.

First Vice President Karyn Lehmann, myself and Past President and Gift Shop Manager Lisa Wise Wolk will be attending the WRJ Pacific District Convention in San Diego from October 18-21. This will be the third district convention for me, and I look forward to meeting with women from other communities to exchange ideas, and also to learn and pray together. Lisa Wise Wolk, who has served as a Pacific District Director and Officer for 10 years, will be leaving the district board. It will be a distinct pleasure to be there to honor her.

I hope everyone received a honey greeting from Sisterhood this High Holy Days. If you did not, there are still a few left in the office. You are invited to drop by and pick one up. The support of congregants for our honey greeting was terrific. If you neglected to put your name on the greeting list, you will have a chance again next year! Jill Weissman worked hard to realize this lovely project, and thank you to her and those who helped her out.

The next Sisterhood Board Meeting will take place at my house, 7124 Amberwood Lane in Highland at 6 p.m. on Sunday, October 7. The time has been moved to the evening so that members can participate in the Redlands Believe Walk. All members are invited to attend, and if anyone has a suggestion for Sisterhood, we welcome your input. You could also contact me through my email address: lhsoltz@gmail.com.

Finally, I thank those families who have sponsored the flower arrangements for the High Holy Day season: Margie Orland for Rosh Hashonah to welcome Rabbi Lindy Reznick; Jeffrey and Dr. Jeanne Raynes and their family for Shabbat Shuvah in memory of Elayne Raynes; and Lisa Wise Wolk and Kerry Wolk and their family in memory of Larry and Evelyn Wolk and all their loved ones who came before.

I hope to greet everyone at a Sisterhood event this year,

Leslie Soltz

Shanah Tovah Congregation Emanu El!

The School for Jewish Living school year has commenced, and it has been so wonderful to see our families again. Students have started their curriculum and met their new teachers, and everyone was engaged in learning and happy to be with their SJL friends again. Please say hello to our new teachers if you see them - Leah Volchok is teaching our 4th - 5th grade class and Rachel Kahn is co-teaching with Addie Swedlove in our 1st - 3rd grade class. We welcome back our incredible teachers from last year, Marla Drake in our Pre-K - Kindergarten class, Ricky Kalmanovich in our 6th - 7th grade class, Addie Swedlove in our 1st - 3rd grade class, and our amazing teaching assistant, Juliette Marcus who is moving from class to class this year.

Looking ahead, we will join together at the Believe Walk on October 7th. There will not be classes this day as we will be together at the walk. We are also looking forward to celebrating Simchat Torah together on October 1st - we will have dinner together and enjoy a fun filled service to celebrate beginning the teachings from our beloved Torah again in a new year. We will not have our Shabbat Alive service in October due to Simchat Torah, but we will join together to usher in Shabbat during Tot Shabbat on October 26th from 6:00-6:30pm.

I am looking forward to a fantastic new year at the School for Jewish Living. We have an outstanding staff and such wonderful families - I know we will enjoy all this school year has to offer.

L'Shalom,

Jillian Snyder

Mental Health Awareness in Action

Did you make any vows for the new year? Here're a few more. If you like them, you could adopt them for your own. If many of us adopt them, we might make our Emanu El community a kinder and wiser congregation. See how they strike you:

I vow

- To expand my heart so that everyone can fit in
- To listen carefully when someone speaks to me from his/her heart
- To speak to someone when I think I need help
- To embrace people who struggle to live in the world (like most of us at times)
- To learn more about mental illness, mental differences like autism and dementia
- To keep a sharp eye out for suicidal thoughts in family and friends and in ourselves
- To learn how to respond to a mental health crisis, like some of us did by taking the Mental Health First Aid course
- To reach out and include us all

Do you like these vows? Please take them. They're free (though not always easy.)

INTRODUCTION TO JUDAISM CONVERSION CLASSES

Wednesday October 17th
6:30-7:30 p.m.
Congregation Emanu El -Raynes Learning Center

We will be offering our first session in our intro to Judaism class for the year.

This class is great for anyone who wants to learn more of the basics about Judaism, who enjoys learning or has burning questions about our faith, or who is interested in converting.

Our class is required for those interested in converting, but open to all who want to learn, conversion is not required to attend.

In our first session we will discuss the curriculum, commitment, costs, timing and dates. Please join us if you are able.

RSVP to Judy in our temple office, so we can add you to our class list.

I look forward to learning with you and accompanying you on your Jewish journey.

GIVE BIG

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY

On Tuesday, October 30, 2018, a 24-hour online event will be held at www.givebigsbcounty.org, designed to generate funding for nonprofits in the county and create a culture of philanthropy and giving throughout the Inland Empire. Beginning at 12:01 AM on October 30, donors, friends, Congregation Emanu El members and non-members are encouraged to go online and give to their favorite local causes and charities and celebrate their donations (if you are inclined) on social media using #GiveBIGSBCOUNTY.

Since inception in 2014, GIVE BIG SB COUNTY has raised $1.3 million for local nonprofits. In 2017, nearly 4,000 unique donors gave to more than 100 nonprofits totaling $315,759, surpassing the 2016 total of $271,044.

For the first time we are bringing GIVE BIG to Congregation Emanu El, to help bolster funding for Jewish children's programming. "Our School for Jewish Living provides the foundation for our community's children to learn about what it means to be Jewish, culturally, historically, religiously, in every way," said Rabbi Lindy Reznick.

For more information or if you have questions about GIVE BIG, contact Cheryl L. Bardowell, 760-408-2178.
