Rabbinic Reflections

As I sit writing this my heart is torn, Jews have been murdered because of an anti-Semitic, fanatical man. Many people have lost loved ones whose bodies haven't been found, and entire communities have gone up in flames due to a raging fire. Smoke, flames and death demand our attention, steal our thoughts and invade our dreams.

It has been difficult this year to let the light in and celebrate it, when our hearts are heavy and our heads left spinning from grief and sadness so often reaching into our lives. And despite these heavy heartbreaking experiences, we rise each day, bless God for our souls being returned to our bodies and look for tiny miracles in the bloom of a rose. We express gratitude that everything works as it should, and we are able to feel the support of our community. These are the days that we must lean on our tradition, our text and God to help lift us up together.

I am writing to compel us all to not retreat despite the heaviness we may be carrying. I am encouraging us all to proudly claim our identity, to hold deeper pride in our Jewish forms of expression, to come to services, to engage in community activities, and to light your Channukiah each night this year, in affirmation of the light that we Jews hold onto and spread in our world.

This year on the 8th night of Channukah, I invite you all to join us outdoors as we proudly “Light up the Night” with our Redlands community. We will gather in Ed Hale Park with our family Channukiyot, to light them together in solidarity with our brothers and sisters of faith. Standing proud together holding our sparkling Channukiyot high, we will shed light. Together we will light and bless, and hold with pride the symbol of our Jewish people - reminding all that God sheds light on our path. Our ancient tradition and our sacred texts remind us that even in the darkest times, “Let us walk in the Light of God” Isaiah 2:5. Together arm in arm, Channukiyot in hands, we will walk together toward the light of God.

*B'Shalom,
Rabbi Lindy Reznick*

Cantorial Comments

*This is the word of the Eternal to Zerubbabel:
“Not by might nor by power, but by My spirit,”
Says the God of heaven’s hosts... Zechariah 4:6*

These words of the Haftarah which we read on Shabbat Hanukkah, remind us that the strength of our communal spirits will always defeat violence, hate and destruction, despite the pain and trauma we may have endured. What importance these teachings still have for us today!

With excited anticipation, at the beginning of November, the Rosh Chodesh blessing which incorporates the recognizable Hanukkah nusach [melody] for the new Hebrew month of Kislev ... and finally, this year on the 2nd of December, the first night [Erev] of one of our most joyous holidays - Hanukkah – the 24th of Kislev, has arrived! Although it is not one of our major holidays, the opportunity to kindle the special menorah, the Hanukkiah, is a beautiful way to bring family and friends together to spread radiant blessings of love, warmth, understanding, acceptance, and peace throughout the land.

The musical modes herald this special time of year in our prayer liturgy and hymns. While we don't have quite the anthology of hymns and carols as contained in the Christmas canon, we actually do have a lot of beautiful Hanukkah music – besides “I have a little Dreydl” and “Oh Hanukkah, Oh Hanukkah...”! Get ready to sing these [“I am a Latke”, “Ocho Kandelikas”, “Judah Maccabee”, etc.] and more of our favorite songs at our Temple Hanukkah dinner on December 7th! I look forward to seeing you there!!

Also, I am delighted to be participating in a Hanukkah Cantor's Concert on December 8th at Bet Chayim Chadashim Congregation in Los Angeles, with my colleague, Cantor Juval Porat and other L.A. cantors. Would love to see you there too!

Chag Sameach!

Wishing you all Happy Hanukkah full of love and light!,

Cantor Jennifer Bern-Vogel

Presidential Perspectives

As we close in on the end of 2018, I look back at our year here at Congregation Emanu El with reflection which might be described as both exhilarating, and challenging.

The hiring of Rabbi Reznick, and her early work here at CEE, has fundamentally shifted the course of this congregation. I'm exhilarated and encouraged by the many opportunities she brings through her warmth and ability to connect with our congregants and the wider community. And I'm beyond proud to say that Rabbi Reznick's tenure began under my Presidency. In April, we honored so deservedly Susan and Paul Shimoff with the Norman F. Feldheym Award. Nearly a hundred thousand dollars was raised through the corresponding journal which made this the largest Temple fundraiser in recent memory. Then, Treasurer Marv Reiter's work to restructure our mortgage loan helped secure long-term financial stability for our congregation. And the addition of the Mishkan Hanefesh Machzor added a fresh, contemporary dynamic to our High Holy Days.

My cancer diagnosis late last year brought with it challenges for me personally. I stepped away from the day to day duties of President for a short time to process the enormity of it all and what it means long-term for me and my family. And just these past few weeks the shooting at Pittsburgh's Tree of Life Synagogue was firmly felt here at Congregation Emanu El as efforts launched looking at any and all ways to better protect our spiritual home and those within it. Amid the fear was comfort and healing as hundreds filled the sanctuary for our interfaith service just two days following the shooting. It was overwhelming to see how many people came out to support and embrace our Jewish community during these most difficult of times. So, exhilarating moments often come with challenging ones too. Each challenge offers the opportunity to grow and glean lessons in order to gain new perspective and wisdom.

Soon we will light our Hanukkah candles and celebrate the Festival of Lights. I'm reminded that in the glow of these candles will be other celebrations which add to the rich tapestry that has come to define our congregation. Mixed marriages and interfaith partnerships have been a part of Congregation Emanu El for a very long time. I believe it is these differing faiths and alternate views that help define the warmth and diversity which makes our Temple community so very unique.

May the warmth and glow of your Hanukkah lights illuminate forevermore the rich and unique diversity our congregation provides, allowing acceptance and inclusion for all.

Shalom and Happy Holidays,

Greg Weissman

Treasurer's Report

Happy Holidays!

Wow – it is already the end of the year! Everything that we have been saying we will get done by the end of the year now has to be done within in the next 30 days! I will be scrambling to get donations out to my favorite charities and not-for-profits before the 31st of December.

Hopefully, Congregation Emanu El is on your list for charitable donations for Fiscal Year 2018! Although the tax laws for individuals, corporations and businesses are changing beginning in 2018, getting a tax break for your donation should not be the only reason you give to CEE. Give because you believe in the entity. Give because your donation will enable them to succeed in their charitable goal. Give because you can!

What will CEE do with the money I send? Our 2018/2019 budget was not balanced. We will have to use retained earnings (profits from prior years) to have our income and expenses match this year. The contributions we receive at year end (and throughout the year) will go towards the operation of our building: professional and staff salaries, utilities, interest on the mortgage and supporting the School of Jewish Living.

Why not use up retained earnings? If we use our retained earnings to balance our budget each year, eventually we will have no equity in our organization and we will need to sell assets to continue operating the Temple. I think we would all agree that selling our assets (the building and all investments) would present a hardship on our congregation!

So it comes down to this – for our congregation to continue all members must contribute monies to support the entity. We have a beautiful sanctuary, a warm and wonderful professional staff and support staff, and members who really like each other!!!

Please give generously – your hard earned donations will be not be spent frivolously. Our budget is reviewed by the Treasurer and Executive Staff each month and approved by the Board of Directors. Each dollar spent has been carefully reviewed and analyzed to be sure it is being spent for the good of the congregation.

May you and your loved ones have a beautiful holiday season and a healthy and happy New Year!

Shalom and Happy Chanukah!

Kathy Rosenfeld

Sisterhood Speaks

Another calendar year comes to a close, and I am thinking back with pride at everything Congregation Emanu El Sisterhood has done this year.

Our largest fund raiser for the year was Casino Night in January, where we all had a fabulous time playing casino games and dining together. Thanks to Jill Weissman, Karyn Lehmann, Barbara Smith, Stacy Knox and Lori Fenster and others of their committee, it was a great success. We've planned another Casino Night for January 26, 2019, so mark your calendars and plan to join us for the fun. In February we held our annual MahJongg Tournament; women (and occasionally a man or two) join us from all over Southern California because we are famous for the luncheon. Paula Kaye instructed us on how to set it up and Julie Strain, Stacy Knox, and Cheryl Sukenik did the rest. If you play MahJongg or know someone who does, in 2019 our tournament takes place on February 18. Purim meant we made Shalach Manot bags for the entire congregation, stuffed with treats, but especially Sisterhood's homemade hamantaschen. Don't miss out this year, we will be sending out letters at the end of February, asking you to join in this fund raising event for Sisterhood. Because of the three events I just mentioned, Sisterhood was able to donate $15,500 to Congregation Emanu El to support the School for Jewish Living and ongoing upkeep expenses.

Sisterhood planned the Congregational Seder on the second night of Pesach, which we will do again this year on April 20. We also held a very successful Women's Seder (attended by several men, who told me they enjoyed the service — but maybe it was just the pot luck food).

Of course, all through the year we support the Oneg Shabbats (thank you Phyllis Sweet for keeping track of hosts and nudging us to contribute). We also maintain the kitchen for all events — Lori Fenster sees that we keep the kitchen organized, clean the coffee pots and ice maker when necessary. Sisterhood maintains a lovely Judaica Gift Shop, managed by Lisa Wise Wolk and her crew of salespeople. The shop is full of charming gifts in all price ranges, maintains a registry for weddings or B'nai Mitzvah, and will special order something you have been wanting, but don't know where to find. Eight months this past year we held a delightful and educational mini-program ranging from a film with a Jewish theme to a drum circle; we served refreshments and there was no charge to attend. Susan Damron has programmed these delightful mornings for our members. You are invited to check out the next one on December 16, when we will again take a walk with Nancy Sidhu.

On the horizon, our Chanukah party and dinner is on Friday, December 7. It begins at 5:30 pm with games and singing, led by our School for Jewish Living students. At 6 pm dinner will be served, featuring fresh latkes made by Karyn and Stephen Lehmann and others. It is not too late to volunteer to help make latkes — contact Karyn at karyn@pawsredlands.com to volunteer. Following dinner, we will light our chanukiah and have shabbat service at 7 pm. The price of dinner is $10 for adults, free for children under 13, but advance reservations for everyone attending must be made to be sure there will be enough for all to eat.

The commitment of the Sisterhood board of directors and other active members is wonderful. If I have forgotten to thank/ mention anyone or praise an event, I apologize. We do this work because we enjoy the interaction with our fellow congregants, we want to set an example of leadership for our children and grandchildren, and above all, we are dedicated to the future of Congregation Emanu El and the Jewish People.

Leslie Soltz

From Our Director of Education & Youth

Hello Emanu El family!

This month has been a rough one for all of us. We have worked hard at the School for Jewish Living to promote ideals of peace and acceptance in the face of tragedy while being diligent to remember the tender ages of many of our students. Our staff attended a safety meeting at Emanu El and we are working on creating a safe environment that still promotes the open and warm nature of our Jewish tradition.

This month, we will be covering Chanukah while continuing our Hebrew and Chai curriculum core. We will be collecting items for Redlands Family Services in order to put the ideal of tzedakah into action as this important tenant of Judaism is taught. We will be leading a sing-a-long during the congregational Chanukah party and enjoying our own school crafts and activities for this wonderful holiday. Our students are working on learning tefillah and they have started to lead during our Tot Shabbats at the end of each month. I am so proud of the work they are doing in class and how well our students work together during school wide activities. I am especially pleased with the leadership I have witnessed our B'nai Mitzvah students demonstrate and how well our Madrachim students are helping our younger students in the classroom. We are all so fortunate to be a part of the growth of these amazing young people.

L'Shalom,

Jillian Snyder

Mental Health Awareness in Action

“....a kind of hunger.....”

This hunger is found among old and young, men and women, all over the world. We call it loneliness. And almost one year ago the United Kingdom appointed a Minister for Loneliness.

The UK has spent much time and effort in considering loneliness – what people think it is, who experiences it, and under what circumstances. They sent their researchers into 237 countries and islands, and gleaned responses from 55,000 people, ages 19 to 99.

A few things are very clear – our health is harmed by loneliness, that trusting is difficult for lonely people, especially the young, that people with disabilities are more isolated and thus often more lonely, as are people who are bullied or discriminated against, and those deeply involved in the caretaking of others.

Loneliness among the elderly is well known, not only in UK, but in Japan and other countries. And one can understand that loneliness easily – life partners and friends are gone; frailty and physical problems keep older people from getting out and being active. But a UK commission and a BBC study found it was 16 to 24 year olds who reported the most loneliness.

What helps?

- Kindness – doing small kindnesses, helping others
- Staying physically active (good for body and mind in every way)
- Learning how to trust more, using trusting words
- Planning our cities and neighborhoods for connection, as some UK city planners do

What can we all do to ease others' loneliness?

- Sprinkle your day with small kindnesses
- Use trusting words and images
- Develop a special sensitivity to the loneliness of others

Those who are lonely tend to be more empathic and more sensitive to others' social pain. So, it seems to us that we who feel lonely are possibly the ablest for easing the loneliness of others.

The UK Minister for Loneliness, Tracey Crouch, would like to rename her department “The Ministry of Happiness.”
