Rabbinic Reflections

Emanu El we have reached a year of pandemic living. None of us expected this to go on for so long. We have innovated and masked, washed our hands until they chapped and learned to engage spiritually online. We've mastered zoom and Facebook live, we study together through a screen, we read Torah online, we even celebrate our holiest holidays through zoom. The new normal is strange and become so regular that going back to our previous existence now would feel bizarre.

If you have studied Jewish history you are aware that the Jewish people were forced to innovate Judaism once The Temple was destroyed a very long time ago. Previous to that moment Judaism was centered around the temple; afterwards Judaism became a faith that was transferable with the Jews no matter where they traveled. We shifted our focus from sacrifice to prayer, from The Temple to Jewish sanctuaries. The Jewish people have always been cultural disrupters and innovators. Today in 2021 we have been forced once again to innovate Judaism.

As we approach our second Purim and Passover online; we now know a little better how to keep everyone safe but keep the sacred alive and well. We hope you will join us for some inventive Passover experiences, watch our website for more details. As always invite your family and friends and help us to expand our reach, enriching the Jewish community in the Inland Empire and well beyond. Believe it or not we are already in the middle of 2021. So my question for Emanu El is how will you innovate your Jewish experience this year? What will you learn, how will you give, what type of action will you take in order to move your Jewish journey forward. I can't wait to be along with you for the journey!

Rabbi Lindy Reznick

Presidential Perspectives

I'm not throwing away my shot.

My friends, it was a year ago this month that we all made the difficult decision to stop in-person services at Congregation Emanu El. Like most of us, I believed this would be a temporary blip, done and over with before anything had a chance to gather dust. As it sits today, we still do not have a plan to reopen. We've been told that we could open at 25% capacity with sufficient safeguards. We will open one day soon, but only when our own doctors tell us it's safe. We listen to science, not politics, at Congregation Emanu El.

As you know, I like to tie each column to a song, and this time it's "My Shot" from Hamilton. If you're not familiar, click anywhere on this article to hear it. Hamilton cleverly leverages the dual meanings of the term, painting Hamilton himself as ambitious and being unwilling to step away from opportunity while reminding us that his life ended in a duel where he may have intentionally missed.

In March 2021, though, "my shot" has a different meaning. I'm encouraged by hearing that so many of you have chosen to take a shot in the arm to help us all heal a little faster. As I write this, it seems to be working. I hope that it won't be much longer until we can all leave home safely and come together like we once did every week.

Please don't throw away "your shot." If you don't trust the science, talk to your doctor. They've probably gotten their shot. If you are worried about the side effects, take it in context. Especially for our seniors, the side effects of COVID-19 are even more scary. Please, get vaccinated, and then stay isolated and safe until enough other people have as well.

Most of all, don't fall prey to misinformation. Listen to doctors and try to read five news stories about every new turn of events. Sadly, local media outlets have been wrong or misleading. Government web sites haven't been kept up. At this moment, doctors are your best source of information, and they are nearly unanimous in saying the risks of the vaccine are minimal, and that it works. And that's the best thing you'll read all day, I'd bet.

Stuart Sweet

Cantorial Comments

A year of COVID .... And it's Pesach time again....

Has it really been a year? What could we have foreseen? What lies ahead as we summon our voices, spirits and strength towards renewal as we virtually celebrate our beloved Pesach Spring Festival for the 2nd round?! We have all waded through muddy waters of an unknown wilderness this year, supporting one another in the best ways we could and somehow, long for Life BC – Before Covid.

Passover is the time of stories – of sharing, asking questions, not always having answers, but always delving deeper in an effort to link the past to the present. In the spirit of Covid Passover II, I'd love to share a beautiful story I recently discovered...

When he was 40, the renowned Jewish Bohemian novelist and short story writer Franz Kafka (1883–1924), who never married and had no children, was strolling through Steglitz Park in Berlin, when he chanced upon a young girl crying her eyes out because she had lost her favorite doll. She and Kafka looked for the doll without success. Kafka told her to meet him there the next day and they would look again.

The next day, when they still had not found the doll, Kafka gave the girl a letter "written" by the doll that said, "Please do not cry. I have gone on a trip to see the world. I'm going to write to you about my adventures."

Thus began a story that continued to the end of Kafka's life. When they would meet, Kafka read aloud his carefully composed letters of adventures and conversations about the beloved doll, which the girl found enchanting. Finally, Kafka read her a letter of the story that brought the doll back to Berlin, and he then gave her a doll he had purchased. "This does not look at all like my doll," she said. Kafka handed her another letter that explained, "My trips, they have changed me." The girl hugged the new doll and took it home with her.

A year later, Kafka died. Many years later, the now grown-up girl found a letter tucked into an unnoticed crevice in the doll. The tiny letter, signed by Kafka, said, "Everything you love is very likely to be lost, but in the end, love will return in a different way."

May we all 'return' and be renewed, with the knowledge that what we have lost can give us new meaning and depth to our lives, and... that love never really dies.

*Arise, my darling;
My fair one, come away!
For now the winter is past,
The rains are over and gone.
The blossoms have appeared in the land
The time of pruning has come;
The song of the turtledove
Is heard in our land.
Song of Songs: 2:10-13*

Chag Pesach Sameach – Sending Passover blessings and love from our house to yours ,

Sisterhood Speaks

Spring is coming!!!!!!

It has been almost a year since our world has pivoted to accommodate the pandemic.

We have learned how to do many things in the absence of normal.

We have done Zoom Seders. Zoom Services. Zoom

Board meetings, Zoom school....

I think that this year will have prepared us to REALLY appreciate being together, when indeed it is decided that is safe to congregate.

For many it has been a long year. A sad year. A lonely year.

But spring should renew hope for blossoming, for growth, and emerging from the darkness!

You should have received your Schalach Manot bags, and I truly hope that you enjoyed them. They were thoughtfully put together and delivered by Sisterhood volunteers, organized (with my greatest appreciation) by Leslie Soltz!

This month holds Passover. As we still are remotely learning and worshipping, this too will be via Zoom. May this be the LAST Passover that we need be apart!

I truly hope that this finds everyone well. I cannot wait to see each and everyone of you within the walls of our sanctuary soon.

In Sisterhood,

Karyn Lehmann

President, Sisterhood,

sisterhood@emanuelsb.org

Treasurer's Report

Dear CEE Congregants,

Nothing to report this month.

Shalom!

Kathy Rosenfeld

From Our Director of Education & Youth

At SJL, we continue our Jewish and Hebrew learning through Zoom. I am very proud of our students for joining every Sunday to learn and celebrate the holidays. I am grateful for the teachers, Leah and Keeana, and our Madricha, Clara, for preparing the lessons and teaching them in the most interactive and meaningful way.

Last month we celebrated Purim with a fun music session and a Purim Spiel, performed by our teen group. Students got craft bags to design their own Purim masks.

As we enter the month of March, we look forward for springtime and Passover. At SJL, we look forward for our Passover celebration with an all-school Seder, reading from the Haggadah, eating Matzah and other holiday traditions.

Passover – Pesach – is the holiday of freedom. In the Seder we remember that our ancestors were slaves in Egypt and Moses led them to freedom.

The freedom we celebrate on Pesach is not only freedom from slavery; it is also the freedom to live in peace, with dignity and hope for a bright future.

Remember, we now can see a light at the end of the long dark tunnel called COVID-19. And I wish all of us to be free from it soon and I am looking forward to the bright future that is getting closer every day.

Chag Pesach Sameach,

Marcela Lavi

Mental Health Awareness in Action

We're closing in on a decade of offering monthly Bulletin articles about our congregation's social action pursuit to end the dangerous shame and stigma in needing mental health treatment.

Our program, Mental Health Awareness In Action (MHAIA), is solidly grounded in the Jewish teaching that our bodies are holy vessels composed of intricate veins, arteries and organs including the brain. Judaism charges us to honor and care for bodies and our minds.

Americans don't easily talk about brain illness, but that is changing as more and more revered public figures and our most accomplished athletes tell their personal stories of managing mental illness. They help us understand that symptoms of mental unwellness are not weaknesses to be overcome privately on one's own. Help can best be had by speaking up about how we are doing. Talking is the very best place to start.

The effort to end the stigma of mental illness has never been more important as the prolonged isolation of the pandemic challenges each of us to stay mentally healthy. This month we will retell the story of our Exodus from slavery for the second consecutive year under pandemic restrictions. That is hard. Let's be kind and gentle with ourselves as we again feel the loss of face-to-face celebration.

No concern about mental well-being is small. Please reach out by talking to a trusted friend or congregant, a therapist or your doctor. We know the first step takes courage. You are valuable. You are worth it. Speak up!

Heidi Nimmo and Nancy Sidhu, Co-Chairs,
Mental Health Awareness In Action (MHAIA)

Looking Inward and Outward: Tackling Anti-Semitism in our Time

Sunday, March 7, 2021, 2:00pm - 3:00pm

"The Origins of Modern Anti-Semitism"

Dr. Keith Pickus, Professor of History, Wichita State University

This talk looks at the historical development of modern or racial antisemitism in the nineteenth and early 20th centuries, which altered how Jews were positioned as outsiders in a manner that no longer was completely dependent on religion. The approach will allow for a better understanding of how majorities utilize a variety of ever-changing tools to leverage power and discriminate against those deemed to be 'inferior' or different.

Monday, March 15, 2021, 6:00pm - 7:00pm

"From Insurrection to Inauguration and Beyond"

Emily Kaufman, Investigative Researcher, ADL Center on Extremism

This session will focus on the impact of the 2021 social and political landscape on extremist activity, the significant challenges ahead, and what ADL is doing to address them. Emily Kaufman, an Investigative Researcher from ADL's Center on Extremism, which seeks to combat terrorism and all forms of hate in the real world and online, will address extremist ideology, conspiracy theories, and disinformation efforts as vehicles to spread hate.

Monday, March 22, 2021, 6:00pm - 7:00pm

"Anti-Semitism on Campus"

Dr. Eran Vaisben, Executive Director of Inland and Desert Hillel

The presenter will talk about recent anti-Semitic incidents at our region's universities, and focus on the following questions:

How do Jewish students experience Anti-Semitism on campus? How is Israel connected to modern Anti-Semitism? Why should people be concerned? And what can we do about it as a community?

COVID CORNER

Your monthly update

WHERE WE STAND

As of March 1, 2021, San Bernardino County is still in the “purple” tier.

This means that we are still at a dangerous point and that the spread of COVID-19 is still not under control. It feels like things are better, but we are still not ready to re-open our building.

The California Supreme Court has ruled that houses of worship may open in limited capacity. Your Board of Directors understands that our older members are at extremely high risk and we have opted to keep all services online-only until we can all be safe.

Rabbi Reznick and Cantor Bern-Vogel are working on new and innovative ways to come together safely. Watch the weekly email for news of events that will help us all see each other with only minimal risk.

Our Health and Safety Task Force, made up of lay leaders, clergy, and three doctors, meets regularly to make sure that we can respond to the latest news as we work toward re-opening our building

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q: Why aren't we opening at the same time as other churches?

A: Our community has many older and immunocompromised members. We'll listen to doctors and we'll re-open when we can all be safe.

Q: Who decides when we re-open?

A: The decision is up to our Board of Directors, who listens to our Health and Safety Task Force. That group is made up of lay leaders, clergy, and doctors.

Q: When we open, will vaccination be required to get in the door?

A: We urge every member of the community to get the vaccine when they are allowed. However, we do not plan to require proof of vaccination to come to services.

Q: Can we do outdoor events in the meantime?

A: We are actively looking at ways to do safe outdoor events while still being fair to the homeowners in our neighborhood. Watch the weekly emails for more details!

Sisterhood appreciates all our Purim Schlach Manot Donors and the Sisterhood helpers who assembled and delivered the Schlach Manot to our congregants.
