Rabbinic Reflections

I am filled with gratitude as I write this we are in the middle of the holiday of Sukkot. This holiday is often described as the Jewish Thanksgiving. It has always been one of my favorite Jewish holidays because it beckons me to find gratitude, in a time when I am often exhausted after Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. As I write this I am sitting in my white sukkah this year, grateful to be alive, to have made it through some of the most challenging high holidays I have ever experienced. I thought last year was hard, but this year was so much harder. Our need to pivot on a dime this year was only possible thanks to a huge amount of work on many key people, Cantor, myself, our Leadership, Our Education Director, Our Health and Safety Taskforce, and especially our technical directors countless hours and long nights editing videos, our recordings from last year, and our ability to bring high quality online programming, a handful of volunteers, our hard working president and past president; without all of these players and our countless volunteer and additional funds none of this would have been possible. I want to thank everyone who was able to help us pivot last minute so we could be able to offer a meaningful Yom Kippur, differently than we had planned.

Emanu El we need you now more than ever. As our pandemic continues to rage, our needs as a community continue to grow. Our communities support for our High Holyday (previously called Kol Nidrei) Pledge is vital to our ability to survive these pandemic times. Unfortunately as a congregation we are not supported by a local federation, we are solely supported by our members. Membership dues do not come close to covering our costs. The past two years have fallen hard on many, but others have managed to survive and continue to give to their favorite non profit organizations. Your Rabbi and temple board are working hard on creating a development plan that will help us survive this incredibly trying times, but without your donations it will not be possible. So if you care deeply about Congregation Emanu El, I want to invite you to show your gratitude for all we have done for you and your family and help us ensure that we will survive these difficult times and be able to provide for the Jewish and non-Jewish community in the Inland Empire for decades to come. It will not happen without you.

In Gratitude,

Rabbi Lindy Reznick

Cantorial Comments

Pivoting - Pirouetting into 5782 'Standing on one foot!'

Before the High Holy Days this year, one of my colleagues posted an encouraging reminder for all of us as we prepared our service music and liturgy for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur: PIVOT! Little did we know how much we would need to engage all our available resources to pivot, even up until the last minute. I'd like to think that our pivots turned into musical pirouettes...The pirouette is a classic move in a ballet dancer's repertoire – a complete turn of the body on one foot. By learning the proper positioning and form to execute a turn, like dancers, we can gracefully maneuver through and thoughtfully design these new experiences for our participants through virtual environments.

How did we gracefully maneuver? Due to a positive Covid result between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, we went back to virtual services only, and were now completely dependent on the dance-like expertise of Janelle Cruz to smoothly navigate and manage all of the choir and solo music videos from last year. Our other 'dancers' included those whose names we have been mentioning throughout our services, but I want to personally thank our small, but mighty 'corps': choir members who were rehearsing with our Choir Director, Jerry Ripley, weekly and then twice weekly for the past two months: newest member, Emily Croft, along with Barb Smith, Lisa Wise-Wolk, Chel Zipperstein and George Petite. We were able to hold Rosh Hashanah services together, including Torah chanting by Lisa Wise-Wolk. The singers from last year who recorded their parts from home included: Michelle Anctil, Grace Harris, Elliot Levine, Sheri Maltzman, George Petite, Barb Smith, Lisa Wise-Wolk, Chel Zipperstein. We were also fortunate to have Michelle Actil's shofar recording for Neila.

Since we were back to online services for Yom Kippur, congregants were able to hear last year's recordings of Torah chanting from Michelle Anctil, Leslie Soltz and Wei Wei Xia [all the way from Japan!]

So, thank you again, to our musical team - our 'corps du ballet' - for pivoting and pirouetting along with your clergy and the rest of our professional team. We were sadly reminded that the pandemic is far from over; tensions are high, nerves are frayed and we are exhausted. As we pivot, pirouette and maybe even stumble together into 5782, may we continue to summon our patience and compassion for one another, taking to heart the words from Hillel, when he was asked to recite the entire Torah while standing on one foot:

'What is hateful to you, do not to your neighbor: that is the whole Torah, the rest is the commentary; go and learn it.' Shabbat 31a:

Cantor Jennifer Bern-Vogel

Presidential Perspectives

Welcome to the year 5782! A new year seems an especially appropriate time to express gratitude. I want to take this opportunity to express my personal gratitude for all of those who volunteer to serve our congregational community. These individuals often work behind the scenes and answer the call to help on a moment's notice.

There are so many who deserve thanks -- more than can be acknowledged in this short column-- so I will give just two recent examples.

Example #1: Thanks to all who helped with the creation and delivery of the High Holy Day gift bags. This project was a collaboration between Sisterhood, Clergy and the Board of Directors. Thanks to the Sisterhood women who baked the delicious honey muffins: Leslie Soltz, Paula Kaye, Michele Zipperstein, Lisa Wise-Wolk, Barb Smith, and Karyn Lehmann. Thanks to Dr. Elizabeth Raskin's son Henry for the original art included as a coloring page in your gift bag. Thanks to Karyn Lehmann for assembling the honey greetings and to Tamicka Walton for stuffing the bags. And thanks to the individuals who made personal deliveries: Michele Zipperstein, Jay Donenfeld, Leslie Soltz, Karyn Lehmann, Richard Taylor, Past President Philip Gold and Roberta Gold, Michelle Anctil, Harriet Briant, Judy Margolis, and Shauna Van Horn. We personally delivered 125 bags locally and mailed another 53 packets to those in outlying areas.

Example #2: During the recent High Holy Days, as we found it necessary again and again to rethink and reconfigure our schedule, several volunteers performed valiantly to keep you up-to-date. On very short notice, changes and updates were made to the website by Immediate Past President Stuart Sweet, new Constant Contact emails were created by Phyllis Sweet, and last-minute changes were incorporated in to the bulletin by Past President Julie Strain.

These are but two examples among many. We are a community. We work as a team. We help one another. Thank you for being part of the Congregation Emanu El community. I wish you a bright and happy new year.

Sisterhood Speaks

Our CEE Family began 5782 with a Honey Greeting! Perhaps many of you were able to enjoy and thank Sisterhood members Barb Smith, Leslie Soltz, Karyn Lehmann, Lisa Wise Wolk, Paula Kaye, and Chel Zipperstein for the honey apple muffins. They baked them with love, and the collective hope of a Sweet New Year.

Rabbi Lindy Reznick and Cantor Jennifer Bern-Vogel followed those hopes and Honey Greetings with a joyous Rosh Hashanah service. Our accompanist, Jerry Ripley, and our choir, helped to facilitate such an inspiring High Holy Day (HHD) experience for us all. Janelle Cruz produced a professional hybrid virtual broadcast of our HHD services. Past and present components of CEE's best HHD offerings were made available for a seamless service. The day of Yom Kippur was full of reflection as individuals, and as a people. The Yizkor service gave us the opportunity lament the loss our loved ones and also provided us with comfort. Culminating with Neilah and Havdalah, our CEE family left services with hopes for a Sweet New Year!

Our Temple President, Dr. Susan Damron, our Health and Safety Task Force, the Temple Board, and CEE as a family as a whole, helped to support and prepare for our services. We worked as a family to offer safe and meaningful HHD. We hope you had an easy fast and enjoyed breaking said fast with your loved ones. This is the beginning of a new year, with the CEE family, new virtual members, and new program offerings.

The next Sisterhood program offering is an exploration with the Sisterhood Book Club, scheduled for Monday, October 4, at 7:00 pm, via Zoom. We will discuss The Tunnel by A.B. Yehoshua. The next book we will read is Marjorie Morningstar by Herman Wouk. That Zoom book discussion date will be in the CEE bulletin. You do not need to be a member of Sisterhood to attend Sisterhood Book Club, however, we do welcome you to join us!

For our newest Sisterhood members, we hope you have or will soon enjoy the privileges of your membership, including discounts at the gift shop. Please contact Lisa Wise Wolk for the Judaica items of your heart's desire.

We send a Bon Voyage to our dear sister and friends, Phil and Deb Holder. Deb and her husband Phil have been active in Temple life for many years. Their move takes them to Pennsylvania to be near their daughter Erin, who recently graduated from college and works in New York, and their son Drew, who is a college student in New York. They have extended family who resides in the area as well. We are happy they can be near their family and will most certainly miss their presence here at CEE.

L'Shanah Tovah,

Kimberly Wolfe Morgan

Mental Health Awareness in Action

What is health? Mental health? Physical health? We might say it's when the body, including the brain, is working successfully. Well, yes, but maybe it's more than that.

Our Surgeon General recently expressed his own vision of true health. Dr. Vivek Murthy was talking with Ira Flatow in the July 23 edition of the radio program, "Science Friday." Ira asked him what kind of legacy he ultimately wanted – this is his second time as Surgeon General of the U.S. Dr. Murthy didn't know exactly:

"But I'll tell you what I deeply care about, what I want to focus on. And that includes mental health, but it's broader than mental health, because it's about well-being more broadly. Well-being is about more than mental illness. It's about whether we are optimizing our physical and emotional well-being in each and every day of our life."

Dr. Murthy then talked about his young children – 3 and 4 years old. Young ones can truly focus the mind. And then he went beyond the typical Surgeon General boundaries:

"And so one of the things I find most interesting and most concerning and urgent is this question of how do we rethink the cultural underpinnings of well-being? How do we think about the factors that are driving us to not be who we are, to disconnect from perhaps the deeper impulses we had when we were children that drive us toward happiness and openness and transparency? How do we get back to being who we really are? And that's a conversation I think we are primed to have during this pandemic as we look to potentially come out of it in the months ahead. Because the question, Ira, for all of us is how do we design our post pandemic life? We don't have to snap back to 2019 exactly as it was. We have a choice to make. How do we want to live differently? And in my work as Surgeon General and afterward, if I could do one thing, which is to shift us away from living in a work-centered society to living in a people-centered society, where we prioritize relationships, where we build our lives around the people that we love, to me that would be one of the most powerful things that we could do. To harness the extraordinary power of relationships to improve our health, our well-being, and our happiness."

As we continue to struggle through all facets of this pandemic, do you think we might have the imagination and inspiration to "live differently," to create a "people-centered society?" Do we share that vision? What might that actually be like? And how might it ease even our human mental issues and illnesses?

As we step further in 5782, let's imagine a better society for us all. If we can imagine it, maybe we can create it.

Mental Health Awareness In Action (MHAIA)

From Our Director of Education & Youth

Shalom Emanu El,

I am happy to share with you that the School for Jewish Living has begun in-person again! It was so exciting to see our students and our staff returning to the Temple. We welcomed new and returning students and their families. We welcomed, as well, returning teacher Keeana Sbar and new teachers Shira Griffith and Jonpaul Cohen and our Madrichim, Emily and Sam Ladenson.

We began our day in a joined T'fila with Rabbi Reznick and learned about Sukkot and the 4 Species. The students got to meet their classmates and teachers and began learning Hebrew and Jewish values with the Shalom learning curriculum.

We look forward to a fun and meaningful year as well as a healthy and safe one as we follow the health guidelines by wearing masks and keeping social distancing.

This year we will have SJL students helping lead the family services the second Friday of each month at 6:30pm, please join us!

Toddler time will get back in person soon and we will have more family and L'Dor Va Dor activities, as we plan a safe return to in person meetings.

I am looking forward to a fantastic new year at the School for Jewish Living,
