Cantorial Comments

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN!!

At the end of this month, we celebrate the highlight of the month of Adar - re-enacting the Book of Esther with a 'Shpiel', costumes, and Megillah reading. While Purim is one of the wackiest holidays in our calendar, it could have gone another way completely - descendants of Haman are still with us today. Now more than ever, we need to be aware of the red flags of antisemitism...

2:10 Esther had not revealed her nationality and family background, because Mordecai had forbidden her to do so.

9:22 ... the month had been turned from sorrow into gladness and from mourning into celebration, that they should make them days of feasting and gladness, days for sending gifts of food to one another and gifts to the poor.

Presidential Perspectives

These are very trying times for those of our faith. A terrible war between Israel and Hamas has left many dead and many more injured or displaced. World-wide anti-Semitism affects Jews everywhere, including university campuses and synagogues. Daily news items give us pause to realize some of the dangers we face.

Your Board of Directors takes these matters seriously. We have a responsibility to protect our congregants and their families when they enter our doors. A recent incident on a Sunday morning has caused us to further enhance our security. While the incident was professionally handled by our security team, we have decided to double up on our protection. We are increasing the ability to handle unusual situations through better communication and clear procedures during an emergency.

We continue to do all we can to keep our Temple a safe place for our congregants. Our Board of Directors is made up of a variety of congregants, including some who have children in our school. It is through our open discussions that changes are brought forth to improve our current practices. It is important that you feel safe when attending services and other events at Emanu El. Please continue to cooperate with our security officers as they ensure safety in our parking lot as well as our building.

B'Shalom

Treasurer's Report

Welcome to March, the month for our Purim celebration. Join Cantor and your fellow CEE members as we celebrate Purim with a Barbie themed Shpiel.

Passover is just around the corner. Sisterhood will once again host the Community Seder; a traditional seder with a delicious Passover meal.

At Shabbat services before Passover we will be dedicating names added to our Wall of Perpetual Memorial. If you have a family member or loved one you wish to add to the Wall, please contact Judy in the office by March 22nd.

Another Passover tradition is our Marriage Reconsecration service at Shabbat services during Passover. Letters will be going out to members celebrating quinquennial anniversaries (5th, 10th, 15th, 20th, etc.). If you are celebrating one of these anniversaries and don't receive a letter, please contact Judy. It is a beautiful tradition to once again stand under the Chuppah with your beloved.

This month, the Budget Committee will meet to begin our financial planning for the next fiscal year. Next month we plan to publish in the Bulletin a draft budget, with a final budget ready to be presented at the Congregation's annual meeting in May.

As always, I am available to discuss any of your financial concerns.

Happy Purim!

From Our School for Jewish Living

In February we talked about the values of appreciating our community, being grateful for what we have, and asking questions about how to help. Pirkei Avot (from Ethics of the Ancestors) said, "Those who are content with what they have are rich." Our students are enjoying listening to traditional folk tales and discussing how they relate to today. In a sweet allegory about a community symphony, the children discover that faith and pulling together can make a difference. We ended the month learning about how our Jewish calendar is lunar- each new month begins with a new moon over Jerusalem. We read Laila Tov, Moon and made an edible chart with oreos. We enjoyed art, music, games and of course a little drama. Next month we will have a pj party and celebrate Purim.

Shalom aleichem,

Miss Ilene and Miss Karyn

Sisterhood Speaks

March will be full of PURIM! If you have not yet sent in your check to support Schlach Manot please do so NOW!

Schlach Manot will be distributed this year with homemade hamentashen and are sure to be a welcome gift from Sisterhood and our greater temple community! This mitzvah is being spearheaded by the lovely Jill Weissman! Please thank her for stepping up to ensure that this tradition continues!

The plan is for the school community to be baking on Sunday March 10th while school is in session. This will be a hands-on communal experience that is not limited to school families. Anyone is welcome to join!

A HUGE thanks to the Sisters that made the Maj tournament successful. I don't want to leave anyone out so I am lazy- blanket thanking all of you.

The book club continues to meet thanks to Susan Damron who has taken on the role of facilitator.

The next Sisterhood Board meeting will be on Sunday, March 3rd at 10:00 a.m. while SJL is in session.

If you would like to join, have ideas for future programs or would just like to be a part of something, please join us.

Chatty Bench

Out for a nice walk in a park when you notice a bright yellow bench where there wasn't one before. And there's a sign on it saying: "Chatty Bench – Stay Connected – Sit here if you are happy to chat with passers by." Would you sit? Would you call out to others walking by, saying hello, how are you today?

All over the United Kingdom, people are doing just that. Worried about growing personal loneliness, some people got the idea to encourage simple conversation in order to improve peoples' lives. That was cooked up by the Mid and East Antrim Loneliness Network. And volunteers went out with brightly painted benches and signs. And all around the park, people sit for a bit and chat.

Another area, another park, with just very old benches, they put up signs saying "The Happy Bench – Sit here if you don't mind someone stopping by and saying Hi. Nobody needs to feel lonely."

Sound quirky? Science backs it up. Researchers in Chicago explored peoples' attitudes toward talking with strangers on the daily mass transit commute. They found most people thought they wouldn't enjoy talking with their fellow travelers, but some agreed to be part of a study. And some were assigned to start up chatting with people next to them. They found that they had been mistaken. They enjoyed the chats much more than they expected.

Most of us tend to have an unspoken belief that others won't want to talk to us and that they won't like being talked to. But it's not so. Both the one who reaches out with friendliness and the one who receives that friendliness have positive thoughts and feelings about each other. Such brief connections add pleasure to our daily lives. Afterall, we're social beings.

Over the past few years, starting before 2019, the "Happy To Chat" Benches have been gaining ground. Canada, US, Australia, Switzerland, Ukraine even, and Sweden where Gothenburg has 20 such benches.

And the idea expands, so Chatty Cafes spring up, where people are encouraged to talk with strangers. If you enter such a café, everyone knows permission is the norm for mingling and getting to know each other.

Loneliness is recognized more and more around the world as a problem that causes us suffering in our mostly urban lives. The UK and Japan have Loneliness Ministers in their national governments. The US Surgeon General is repeatedly raising the alarm. The World Health Organization is doing likewise.

Of course, chatting on a park bench is not a cure, but it makes possible a kind of connection we all need. A light chat can also lead to a deep personal reveal. If someone is willing to listen. We all need to be seen and accepted.
